

Whether or not a dog is shown, it must be realised that it is always a pet and must be treated as such. When undertaking the ownership of a dog, you also assume total responsibility for its happiness and well being and, equally important, for its behaviour both in and out of your home. Dogs prosper on a happy interesting life, with good food, plenty of exercise, the right discipline and, above all, a great deal of love. Moreover, all Dalmatians crave human companionship. Those whose dogs do not live in the house should pay particular attention to ensuring that their pets enjoy the items listed in the two previous sentences.

Do not leave the dog at home for hours unattended. If you have children, particularly toddlers do be sure the dog has a “get-away” place, which is totally forbidden to the children. Take time to teach your pet dog the rules of good behaviour too. He can then take his place as a much-loved member of the family and not have to be shut away because his own naughtiness creates a problem. Take your dog to a training class. A short course of lessons will teach you as well as the dog!

It is essential that veterinary assistance should always be used whenever an animal, of any age, has to be put down.

It should be remembered that, together with the dogs, we enjoy a marvellous sport and hobby. Owners can be hurt to the core by spiteful comment or condemnation in the ring from the judges. To each and every dog lover their animals are precious, and we destroy ourselves as well as others when employing malicious comment, whether regarding stud dogs, bitches, litters, or even their owners.

Breed Clubs are formed for the benefit and furtherance of the breed and the reputation of that breed is dictated by the behaviour of the Members.

2. EXHIBITORS

Dogs do not ask to be exhibited. They will do so willingly, and in return should be given that care and attention which makes it a pleasure for them.

Note the following points:

- a) Give ample opportunity to empty out before a journey and again before going on the bench and into the ring.
- b) Supply a comfortable mattress or bench rug.
- c) A coat may be necessary on a draughty bench, or when going from an overheated hall into a cold wind.
- d) Provide regular opportunities for exercise.
- e) If you must leave your dog unattended on the bench, check back regularly to ensure he is neither in trouble nor causing it.

By these and other means, you can alleviate the tedium and discomfort of a day cooped up on a bench. Above all, appreciate and allay the fears, which a puppy or novice dog must suffer at his first shows. A serious shock at this stage may never be forgotten.

There are some who should not be at a show at all, most particularly bitches in whelp or those in season. No animal, which is chronically nervous or bad tempered, should appear in the ring. Do not bring young puppies under the age of six months on to the showground.

In the showring, present your dog and yourself in immaculate condition. Watch to see what the judge will require and ensure that neither you nor your dog interferes with any other. Treat your dog calmly and kindly – he is there only to please you, not to obtain prizes. Do not allow disappointment to mar your behaviour either to your dog or to other exhibitors, and certainly not to the judge. Malicious comments regarding the judging, other exhibitors or their dogs is totally unacceptable either in the ring or outside it.

3. JUDGES

All dogs should be treated with the utmost gentleness, and puppies in particular should only receive the quietest and kindest of handling. Each exhibitor should be treated courteously and have the full attention of the judge.

Judges come under very close scrutiny, and it is of the first importance that fair dealing is not only done but is seen to be done. By their own demeanour, both in and out of the ring, judges can create the right atmosphere and at the same time must be aware of all activities in their ring.

In addition to the Kennel Club Regulations regarding judging appointments, the following points should be considered:

- a) A written report to be produced for every show.
- b) Members should avoid canvassing for judging appointments and wait to be asked.

4. ALL OWNERS

spotting on white, may be registered. If registered, their registrations must be endorsed:

- (i) Not eligible for the issue of an export pedigree
- (ii) Progeny not eligible for registration

Furthermore, purchasers of patched puppies should be encouraged by breeders to have such puppies neutered.

Breeders are reminded that if they endorse the registration of any puppy a potential purchaser must be informed, in writing, prior to the sale.

These paragraphs apply also to the Stud Dog Owner.

Owner of Stud Dog

- a) Is your dog good enough to breed from?
- b) Be certain you have checked all the basic points above with the owner of the bitch.
- c) Check that the bitch is correctly registered at the Kennel Club and without restrictions on the registration.
- d) It is the duty of the stud dog owner to visit and check all litters personally and to confirm that the above recommendations have been met. They should always be available to give help and advice, particularly to novice breeders.
- e) It is the duty of the stud dog owner to consider whether the dog is being overused. Total honesty is essential on both sides concerning background information and knowledge of known faults in previous litters. The resultant puppies will bear the pedigree of both sire and dam, and the owners will carry equal responsibility for their welfare.

Selling Puppies

- a) It is wise to have some puppy enquiries before contemplating a litter.
- b) Question prospective buyers closely and, if possible, arrange for the whole family to visit you and meet the adult dogs. If you feel it advisable, arrange a visit to their home, either by yourself, the owner of the stud dog, or the District Representative.
- c) Make sure the puppy will not be left alone for long periods at a time.
- d) Enquire as to the adequate facilities for exercising. Is there a fully enclosed garden?
- e) Children must be taught to respect animals. If there are young children or a baby is expected, be sure to discuss any possible problems thoroughly.
- f) Do not pass your puppy on until you can be sure it will receive kind and sufficient attention in every respect. It is essential that all new owners should feel able to return to the breeder for help and advice and, in case of disaster, for practical help on re-homing.
- g) When selling puppies abroad, use the facilities of the Club to check on prospective owners; check what will happen to the dog if a show career proves unsuccessful. No dog should be sold to countries where they are not protected by Anti Cruelty Laws. Under no circumstances send potential show stock overseas unless it is absolutely top quality. A second opinion from a knowledgeable breeder should be sought.
- h) When selling puppies in this country, the same standards apply. Explain any faults and also the changes, both for better and for worse, that can take place from eight weeks onwards! Total honesty is essential in every respect.

7. COMMITTEE AND OFFICERS

The affairs of the Club shall be conducted by a Committee of twelve members plus the following officers:-

- (a) Chairman. Vice-Chairman. Secretary and Treasurer, all of whom shall be elected by ballot in accordance with Rule 8.

A club, whose membership is so varied in every way, necessitates many kinds of activity to suit all tastes; but the dignity and prestige of the breed and members should always be upheld in whatever circumstances.

With an ever growing membership, amongst whom are numbered not only dog lovers of many years standing, but many who are newcomers to the world of dogs, it is considered that a Code of Conduct might be considered appropriate and helpful to us all.

It is appreciated that this will not eliminate the many wrong practices which we all know exist, but it does create a common basis for us all. More important, used with discretion it can be the means whereby the Committee may be empowered to ask a Member to answer a complaint against him, and in extreme cases expel that Member from the Club. We have tried, as concisely as possible, to set out our thoughts under the following headings:

- | | |
|---------------|---------------|
| 1. Breeders | 3. Judges |
| 2. Exhibitors | 4. All Owners |

1. BREEDERS

The future of the Dalmatian is in the breeder's hands. It is therefore of paramount importance that all breeding stock is kept in peak condition with good food, plenty of exercise, and the type of living conditions which lead to a good happy temperament. This applies to stud dogs as well as bitches.

In the current thinking, have you considered the absolute basics of having a litter?

- a) Is your bitch good enough to breed from?
- b) Are both the dog and the bitch free from known inherited defects?
- c) Have you studied the stud dog and his pedigree in enough detail? i.e. suitability for your line.
- d) Are both dog and bitch in prime health? No animal should ever be bred from which shows aggression or nervousness.
- e) Discuss every aspect of rearing a correct and happy litter, having regard to cost, accommodation, supervision and time, with an experienced breeder.

The following criteria should be observed:

- a) No bitch should be bred from under the age of two years, or over the age of eight years (the latter point is now a Kennel Club regulation.)
- b) No bitch should be bred from more than four times.
- c) It is advisable not to breed from your bitch without an interval of at least twelve months since her last litter, except under veterinary advice.
- d) All totally deaf puppies shall be put down humanely, once diagnosed.
- e) Patched puppies, and puppies of other colours than black spotting on white or liver

HINDQUARTERS

Rounded, muscles clean with well developed second thigh, good turn of stifle, hocks well defined.

FEET

Round, compact with well arched toes; catlike, round, tough, elastic pads. Nails black or white in black spotted variety, in liver spotted brown or white.

TAIL

Length reaching approximately to hock. Strong at insertion, gradually tapering toward end, Never inserted too low or too high, free from coarseness and carried with a slight upward curve, never curled. Preferably spotted.

GAIT/MOVEMENT

Great freedom of movement. Smooth, powerful, rhythmic action with long stride. Viewed from behind, legs move in parallel, hindlegs tracking the fore. A short stride and padding action is incorrect.

COAT

Short, hard, dense; sleek and glossy in appearance.

COLOUR

Ground colour pure white. Black spotted, dense black spots and liver spotted, liver brown spots; not running together but round and well defined. In size one pence to fifty pence piece. Spots as well distributed as possible. Spots on extremities smaller than those on body. Patches, tricolours and lemon spots highly undesirable. Bronzing on spots undesirable in adults.

SIZE

Overall balance of prime importance. Ideal height: Dogs - 58.4 to 61 cm (23 to 24 inches)
Bitches - 55.9 to 58.4 cm (22 to 23 inches)

FAULTS

Any departure from the foregoing points should be considered a fault and the seriousness with which the fault should be regarded should be in exact proportion to its degree.

NOTE

Male animals should have two apparently normal testicles fully descended into the scrotum.

(b) In addition to the foregoing, there shall be offices of:

- (1) President, who shall be nominated by the Committee and elected at the AGM. The President shall have full voting rights at all meetings and shall serve for a full term of three years, then being eligible for re-election.
 - (2) Vice-Presidents, who shall be elected for life, shall be past Presidents or members whom the Club wish to honour and shall not exceed six in number. To fill vacancies for Vice-Presidents members shall be nominated and elected in accordance with these Rules. They shall have the right to attend and vote at all meetings.
 - (c) The Officers and Committee, with the exception of the President and Vice-Presidents, shall retire every year at the AGM, but shall automatically be nominated for election in accordance with Rule 8. No one member shall hold two offices, excepting a life officer.

 - (e) Not less than twelve clear weeks before the AGM, the Secretary shall issue to each paid-up member a circular inviting nominations for posts of officers and committee. No member may propose himself.
- Any Officer or Committee member who resigns from Office shall not be eligible for nomination for re-election to that office for a period of twelve calendar months from the date of such resignation.
- (f) Nominations bearing the assent of the nominee in writing shall be proposed and seconded by two members and submitted to the Secretary six clear weeks prior to the date of the AGM. Proposers or seconders shall not be joint or partnership members, or the husband, wife, son or daughter of a proposer or seconder.
 - (g) No person, whilst an undischarged bankrupt, may serve on the Committee of, or hold any other Office or appointment within, the North of England Dalmatian Club.

8. ELECTIONS

The ballot paper shall be returned by the member to reach the Scrutineer named on the ballot paper two clear weeks before the AGM. Voting shall be by a simple "X" vote and those candidates receiving the highest number of votes shall be declared elected at the AGM. The Scrutineer shall present to the AGM a declaration of the votes cast and certification of the number of papers sent out, returned and spoilt.

- (b) The Committee shall have powers to co-opt members to the Committee for a specific purpose or appoint members to perform a specific function. Such appointments and the reasons therefore shall be reported at the next AGM.

10. MEETINGS OF THE COMMITTEE

The Committee shall meet within two calendar months from the date of their election and thereafter as often as may be deemed necessary by its members. At least one week's notice convening a meeting and stating the business on the agenda shall be issued to all members of the Committee.

11. GENERAL MEETINGS
